The mission of the Latin American & Caribbean Studies (LACS) program, as part of the University of South Florida's strategic plan for internationalization, is to enhance, coordinate and promote teaching, research, and service activities related to Latin American, Caribbean, and U.S. Latino Studies. With the College of Arts and Sciences, the office offers a Certificate in Latin American and Caribbean Studies for undergraduate students who want to enhance their major degree program, and a Master of Arts (M.A.) Degree in Latin American, Caribbean and Latino Studies.

The program offers research grants to USF faculty and graduate students to encourage and support research, conferences, and/or course development in all fields related to Latin American, Caribbean, and Latino studies.

The office develops overseas study programs and grants Passport Scholarships to students for study abroad in the region. The program fosters greater knowledge of Latin American, Caribbean, and Latino issues through several partnerships with community organizations and university departments to sponsor lectures and cultural programs open to the public throughout the year. The Office coordinates the Latin American and Caribbean Scholar Program to recruit international students from Latin America and the Caribbean to USF. Students who receive scholarships from state or federal sources may be coded as in-state residents for tuition purposes. Academic exchanges with Latin American and Caribbean educational institutions are coordinated by the Director of LACS. These exchanges foster the recruitment of international students and visiting scholars as well as develop joint research projects of global interest. The office works with several departments with more than 40 teaching faculty who are experts in Latin American, Caribbean and Latino studies.

The University of South Florida welcomes qualified students from all over the world to our campus community. The resulting international educational exchange leads to the enrichment of our common life, the intellectual development of our students, the research endeavors of the University, and mutual understanding between the peoples of the world represented at USF. The ensuing exchange of life stories exposes all USF students, faculty, and staff to the likenesses and differences which exist between cultures, worldviews, experiences, and ideas.

ISSS is the main administrative and advising office for approximately 2,500 foreign students and 200 visiting faculty members and researchers at USF. ISSS has many administrative duties, including the issuance and maintenance of all visa documentation for foreign nationals at the University. ISSS staff persons are experienced in cross-cultural counseling and crisis management in a cross-cultural setting. Advisement is available related to immigration matters, adjustment to life in the United States, culture shock, and other personal and academic matters. To further assist internationals in adjusting to life at USF, ISSS provides letters of enrollment and expenses, orientation, non-resident tax seminars, and immigration workshops. International students and scholars may also contact ISSS to get information regarding Tampa area activities, transportation, housing, tourist attractions, and Florida drivers' licenses. ISSS also offers opportunities to be involved in outreach programs of community service groups such as the American Mentors Program, the Conversational English Program, and Friends of Internationals. Other programs include parties, cultural events, and the annual International Festival.

The USF Study Abroad and Exchanges Office develops and coordinates academic programs abroad that allow students to incorporate an invaluable international component in their education. Through a variety of cost-effective study abroad opportunities, students may participate and meet general distribution requirements, including foreign language and USF summer enrollment graduation requirements. Many students find that they are able to fulfill individual degree requirements while studying abroad through USF.

Students can select from among different models of overseas study programs:

- (1) Semester or academic year reciprocal exchange, by agreement between USF and a foreign partner institution,
- (2) USF faculty-led group study abroad programs, ranging in duration from a 10-day short-term study tour to a 4-6 week summer "in-residence" program
- (3) Semester-long study abroad, whether for language study or in many disciplines, for USF credit,
- (4) Internships or special programs arranged by USF College or Department in cooperation with an institution overseas, or
- (5) Service learning programs.

While some programs such as reciprocal exchanges require a minimum grade point average, others require only that students be degree-seeking and currently in good academic status. Depending upon the study abroad option chosen, students may earn USF credit across academic disciplines including courses in Arts and Sciences, Fine Arts, Education, Business Administration, Engineering and more. Programs are available to students in every major field, and most programs do not require foreign language proficiency.

Increasingly, USF students are able to apply the same financial aid available to them for classes on campus to courses taken abroad. The USF Office of Study Abroad and Exchanges coordinates closely with other units on campus on the student's behalf, including the Financial Aid Office, the Cashier's Office and Office of the Registrar.

USF degree-seeking students who meet eligibility requirements may apply for study abroad scholarships offered each term through the Study Abroad and Exchanges Office. The Office also maintains an Overseas Information Library. Here, students may research study abroad options, alternative funding sources and overseas employment possibilities in connection with their planned study abroad. Country-specific information and general travel publications further assist students with their planning.

Although new overseas programs are constantly being developed, a sampling of countries in which USF offers different study abroad opportunities includes:

Australia, Brazil, Costa Rica, Cuba, France, Germany, Ghana, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Russia, Spain, Sweden, and the United Kingdom (various locations).

The English Language Institute in the College of Arts and Sciences offers intensive academic English as a Second Language (ESL) courses to non-native speakers of English. Students are given a placement test upon registering for the program. This test determines the proficiency level into which the student is placed, ranging from elementary, low-intermediate, high-intermediate, to advanced pre-university ESL.

Students attend non-credit classes 25 hours per week. The integrated-skill, content-based curriculum includes training in listening comprehension, spoken English, grammar, reading, writing, culture, learning strategies, and a host of test prep elective courses (TOEFL, GRE, SAT, SPEAK) for upper-level students.

The English Language Institute is authorized to issue Certificate of Eligibility (I-20) to students who require a Student Visa (F-1) and who meet criteria set forth by the United States Immigration and Naturalization Service.

The cost of the program is $ 3,150.00 per semester, including health fee, activities fee, and a non-refundable application fee.
