PROGRAM OF STUDY AT THE COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Almost one-third of all New College students began their undergraduate careers at other colleges, many at Florida community colleges. New College provides an exciting opportunity for students seeking to continue their undergraduate education in a challenging individualized program in the liberal arts and sciences.

Transfer Credits: Liberal arts and sciences courses are evaluated individually to determine transfer credit. Generally courses with grades of "C" or above that are judged comparable in level and content with New College courses will transfer. Students may receive up to three contracts and one ISP in transfer credit. A statement of transfer credit policy is available from the New College Office of Admissions.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS TO THE UNIVERSITY PROGRAM OF STUDY

INTRODUCTION: WHAT NEW COLLEGE IS ALL ABOUT

As the honors college of the University of South Florida, New College provides academically motivated students with extensive opportunities for accelerated intellectual growth.

With an 11:1 student to faculty ratio, a small and select student body has greater access to an excellent faculty than typically available in a state university. This environment provides students with individual attention to nurture intellectual development.

Since its affiliation with the University of South Florida in 1975, New College has been able to offer students the best of both worlds: the quality of a small private liberal arts education at the cost of a state university.

TRANSFER INFORMATION

Application Process:
- New College USF Application and fee
- SAT or ACT scores (officially reported)
- High School Transcript(s)
- College Transcript(s)
- Teacher recommendation (from recent academic course)
- Counselor recommendation (from an academic dean or advisor) - an additional academic Teacher Recommendation may be substituted.
- Statement of reasons for transfer from previous college or university

Admission Decisions:
Success in the New College program requires academic ability and preparation, self-discipline, and motivation. Since the average profile of an admitted student is quite strong, it is recommended that the most rigorous possible course of study be followed. The prospective student should take every opportunity to demonstrate strength through academic records, standardized test scores, recommendations, writing samples, and the interview. No grade point or test score cutoffs are used in making admission decisions. The associate's degree is not a requirement or guarantee for admission. The Admissions Committee evaluates all aspects of the application to assess whether the student is suited to the special nature of New College.

Admission decisions are made on a rolling basis. Fall applications are accepted no later than May 1, with review beginning September 1. Spring applications are accepted no later than December 1, with review beginning in late November. The Office of Admissions reserves the right to close the class earlier than the dates specified if enrollment goals have already been met.

ACADEMIC CALENDAR: 4-1-4 Year

Two four-month semesters (fall and spring)
One four-week Interterm (January)

In order to allow room for individual interests and talents, the New College curriculum is more flexible than that of most colleges. Students are encouraged to combine areas of study to suit their particular goals. They may select from a wide array of courses offered each semester, and arrange individual or group "tutorials" that stem from particular academic interests. The following is a list of areas of study offered by the College's three academic divisions, as well as some interdisciplinary and interdivisional programs.

HUMANITIES--Art History; Classics; Fine Arts; Language - French, German, Russian, Spanish, Latin, Greek; Literature; Music; Philosophy; Religion

NATURAL SCIENCES--Biology; Chemistry; Mathematics; Physics

SOCIAL SCIENCES--Anthropology; Economics; History; Political Science; Psychology; Sociology

INTERDISCIPLINARY AND/OR INTERDIVISIONAL PROGRAMS--Environmental Studies; Gender Studies; Medieval and Renaissance Studies; Public Policy; Theater; Urban Studies.

CAMPUS LIFE

New College is a co-educational, residential college. It attracts a diverse student body from across the United States, as well as several foreign countries. Its location on a 140-acre bayfront campus in Sarasota puts students in close range of cultural and recreational activities. Facilities include a $6 million library, a Conference Center/Auditorium, an indoor fitness center, and a fine arts complex.

FINANCIAL AID AND SCHOLARSHIPS

New College is able to offer students a top quality education at very low cost because the institution receives support from both the public and private sectors.

Federal and state need-based financial assistance programs are available to New College students. In addition, about 60 percent of the incoming students receive achievement-based scholarships.
